When Kaumātua Wirangi came to our kindy
to help us celebrate Matariki
we sat on the mat and listened carefully.

He told us the names of the stars
and about the new year starting.
He told us about remembering the people
who have gone before.
He told us about the days growing longer.

“Did you celebrate Matariki
when you were little?”
we asked Kaumātua Wirangi.

“Āe,” he said.
He told us about planting vegetables
with his papa and granny.

Our kaiako, Mātua ‘Ānaru and Whaea Sifa had asked us to wear something special for Kaumātua Wirangi’s visit. And we had practised a special song.

"My name is Mokafetū and this is my Niue kahoa necklace.
It's made with seashells,"
I told Kaumātua Wirangi.

"It's very beautiful,"
said Kaumātua Wirangi,
"and so is your name."

"It means 'precious star'.
I'm named after my nana.
My mum says she was like
a bright star in the sky."

Filipe was wearing a special mat.
"This is my ta'ovala,"
he told Kaumātua Wirangi.

The twins Iosefa and Lupe
were wearing matching lāvalava.
They told Kaumātua Wirangi
their lāvalava were the same as the ones worn
by their mum's kirikiti team.

'Ina had a band of flowers around her head.
"This is my 'ei,"
she told Kaumātua Wirangi.
It was beautiful.

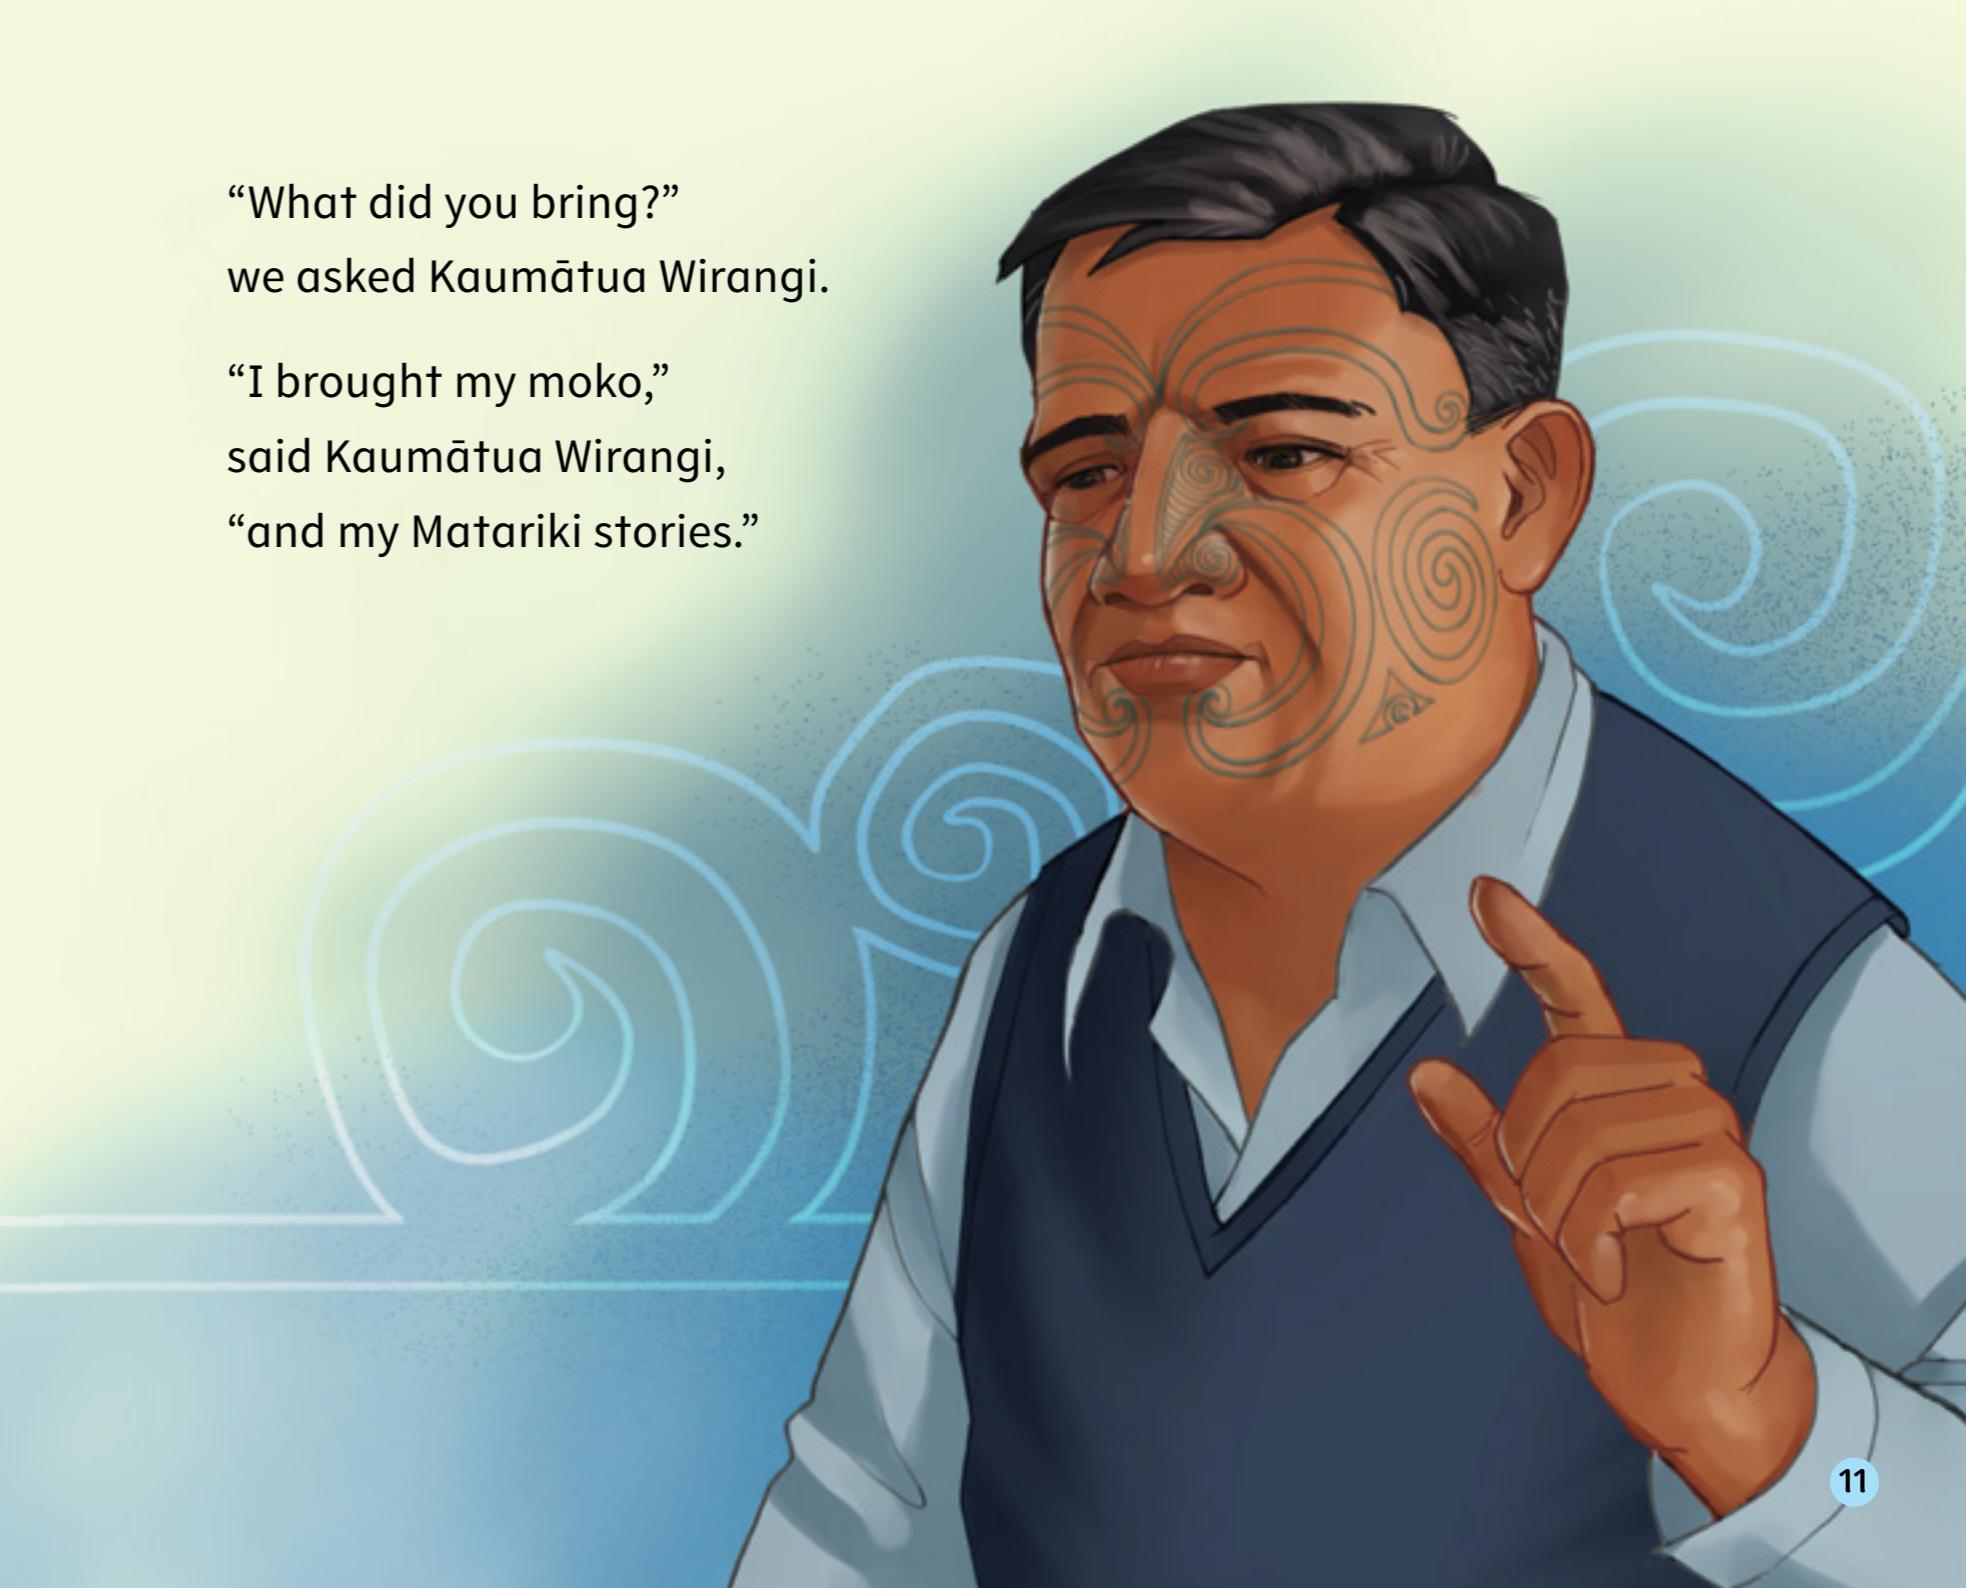

A young girl with dark hair tied back, wearing a light brown vest over a white shirt, holds a long, thin, white pā necklace. She is looking slightly to her right with a shy expression. The background is a soft green with white star-like sparkles.

My friend Mālia is very shy.

“This is my pā necklace,”
she whispered.

Kaumātua Wirangi listened carefully
and gave Mālia a big smile.

An older man with intricate traditional facial tattoos (moko) on his forehead, nose, and cheeks. He has dark hair pulled back and is wearing a dark blue vest over a light blue shirt. He is gesturing with his hands while speaking. The background features stylized blue swirling patterns.

“What did you bring?”
we asked Kaumātua Wirangi.

“I brought my moko,”
said Kaumātua Wirangi,

"We've been practising
a special song for you,"
Mātua Ānaru told Kaumātua Wirangi.

We all stood up
and sang our Matariki song
with our best singing voices.

*"We are stars, from one sky.
We are bright and shining.
When you see us sparkling high
you will know
we shine for all to see."*

"Before we have our lunch," said Whaea Sifa,
"I would like to ask Mokafetū's papa
if he would say grace please."

My papa Tavita stood up
and we all bowed our heads
while he blessed the food.

Lots of families had brought food to share.
It was yum!
